

Progressive Disclosure

Antonio D'Amato

Conservatorio Statale di Musica di Avellino IT

antonio089@yahoo.it

Abstract. Progressive Disclosure is a short piece where in an imaginary landscape an unknown machine is progressively disclosed and explained in order to reveal its inner functions. The piece is an reflection on concepts of approach modalities and comprehension of properties or qualities, that an object possesses and its functions. Long-slow sound objects and impulsive sounds build up the piece. These elements are merged and extensively overlapped in order to develop an imaginary panorama with basic elements of a music vocabulary. Synthesized and acoustically derived sounds are both used, but the focus here is mainly on the description of a progressively closer observation of a visionary machine.

link to the audio file (both HQ wav and mp3):

<https://www.dropbox.com/sh/dgt7pkzaszimm0z/AADyeHU7l4yVDY-4moBAfHNia>.